The chair of this task force is Rev Richenda Fairhurst.

Her email address is pastorrichenda@gmail.com

Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon

Creation Justice

They have resources for:

Climate Change, Climate Resilience, Fossil Fuel Divestment and Oregon Interfaith Power and Light. They also have links to a number of webinars that they have done regarding environmental issues. These would be great for a district, unit or circle program.

Columbia Riverkeepers and Willamette Riverkeepers

www.columbiariverkeeper.org and willamette-riverkeeper.org

Columbia Riverkeeper worked with other groups to stop the building of a 415 megawatt fracked gas power plant near the Columbia river.

Willamette Riverkeeper is hosting an annual river clean up during October with events happening on several days in Portland, Salem, Corvallis and Eugene. It's not too late to help out this year.

OPAL Environmental Justice Oregon

OPAL's work is at the intersection of environmental justice, civil rights, and transportation and housing. We've organized around issues ranging from air quality to congestion pricing, to reducing policing and increasing bus service. OPAL empowers community members who are most impacted by environmental justice issues, and develops leadership. Our members have engaged thousands of people through direct actions, policy campaigns, and educational workshops. They also collaborate with other groups locally and nationally.
