

Oregon – Idaho Annual Conference
#MeToo Congregational Prayer of Healing and Shalom

God who calls us into Shalom, we have heard the voices of your people, wailing, ready for lasting justice, speaking truth, risking...

Risking vulnerability.

Risking being not believed.

Risking being believed.

Risking reconciliation and healing.

Risking courage.

Together, as the Body of Christ, we hear what the Spirit is speaking to the Church.

We invite women who have been sexually harassed, or sexually assaulted, or sexually harmed... we invite you to share in safety.

We invite you forward in courage.

We promise to be with you in this, to stay with you, to believe you, to pursue justice with you.

You have risked so much.

And so we also promise to join you in this.

Together, our courage and faith in the God of justice and healing will create transformation for us all. Together.

We commit to do no harm.

We commit to create safety and live in solidarity.

We commit to humbly join God with Us, God Incarnate, God who says to us, 'Me, too.'

Amen.
